What is your current employment profession?

Currently, I am the Global Vice President of Supply Chain for a large plastics company, called Nexeo Plastics. We produce and deliver a lot of the plastic resin used in many of our day to day items available via the retail marketplace. I am responsible for all operations and end to end supply chain for thirty-eight factories in North America and twelve overseas.

What is your heart for Journey?

I believe in our transformation and development path that Journey Church has been on over the last decade. I attended CLS and First Assembly's Royal Rangers and love to see how our church has grown and evolved to be more relational to the everyday person, not just the long term tenured and experienced born again Christian. My opinion, is that it is important to be a Church that is open to the community and welcoming of all people; to ensure that as much as possible we are representing the true meaning of Agape (Unconditional Love)... even though I fall short on this, I firmly believe my participation and encouragement I receive on a weekly basis from our Pastoral team helps me to be a better Christian to all that I am surrounded by.

What is your involvement in the community?

My involvement primarily revolves around school and sports activities my kids are involved with, and serving in different volunteer capacities as those organizations are met with throughout the year.

What is your current employment profession?

My employment is with Abbvie as the Director of Sales Strategy and Operations. My role with Abbvie's US Immunology business is to plan all sales strategies across the immunology product lines and ensure operational execution

What is your heart for Journey?

Our family loves Journey Church. It has provided an amazing place for my entire family to grow in Christ. Journey does an amazing job of meeting people where they are and encouraging them to come closer to Christ from whatever that place is. We have thoroughly enjoyed being a part of Journey and being a part of Journey's vision.

What is your involvement in the community?

CLS Football Director and Basketball Coach. During my time serving at CLS we have brought in many community kids and families into these programs. Approximately half of our families are not part of CLS and they do not attend Journey. This allows us the opportunity to be Christ-like examples for the first time. My family also volunteers at Feed My Starving Children.

What is your current employment profession?

I am a registered professional Engineer (Mechanical) and have worked in Chemical, Petro Chemical, Food, Forest Products, Utilities and Pharmaceutical Industries. I worked in the chemical, petrochemical, food, forest products, utilities, and pharmaceutical industries. For nineteen years prior to my retirement from Abbott Labs, I was an engineer manager for the development of new drugs. I am now retired and love it!

What is your heart for Journey?

My wife and I are both Pastor's kids; church life was and is an integral part of our lives. There are three major functions I see for Journey:

1. Instruction | For God's Word to be preached touching as many lives possible without boundaries. I am a beneficiary of what is being taught at Journey. Biblically uplifting, making it easy to find and connect with God.
2. Growth | Numerically and spiritually, this requires leadership and vision of which Journey is well equipped.
3. Service | To serve the people and community. This starts | at home and grows outward. I applaud Journey's efforts with the current challenges in Kenosha.

What is your involvement in the community?

I am an active member of Abbott retirement community and volunteer to organize events and attend functions. I love golf and enjoy playing with friends. Due to pandemic my involvement in Community in general has been impacted. I am thankful that we are safe and healthy so far.
